FOREWORD

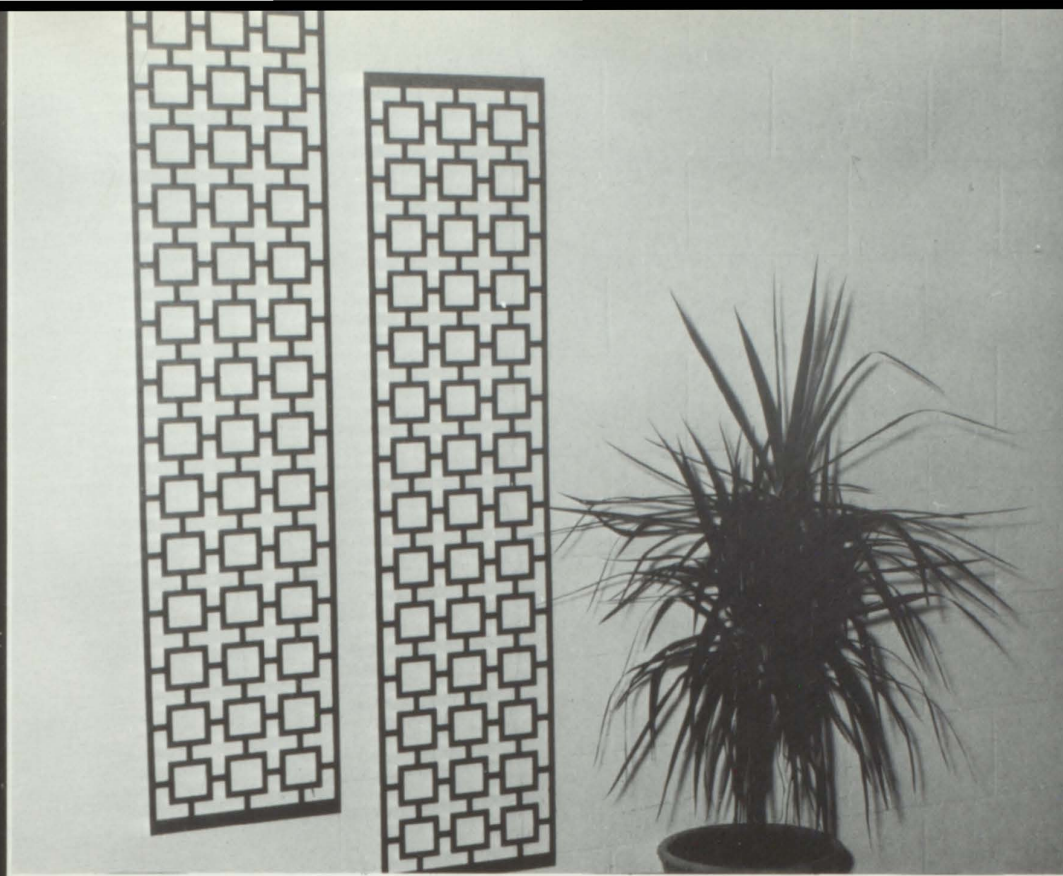

To all students, this past year has brought many outstanding experiences; but to the seniors '67 stands out as a special pattern for it marked the passing of their first great milestone in life—graduation. The Annual Staff has endeavored to recapture some of the fleeting moments which made this year such a success in the lives of everyone at Mark Smith and Lasseter . . . people's expressions, wonderful times that left a lasting memory, and seemingly insignificant, everyday events that later became unforgettable—all these are patterns in our lives.

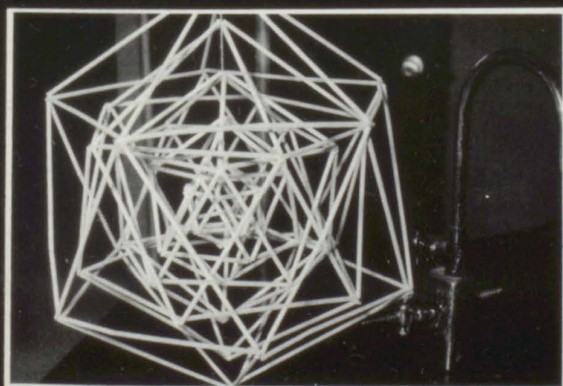

Patterns in Our Lives

We strive to create patterns of our own.

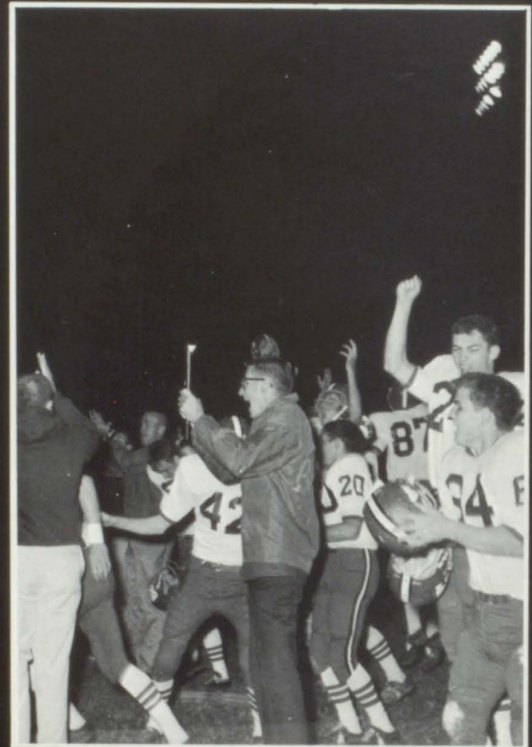

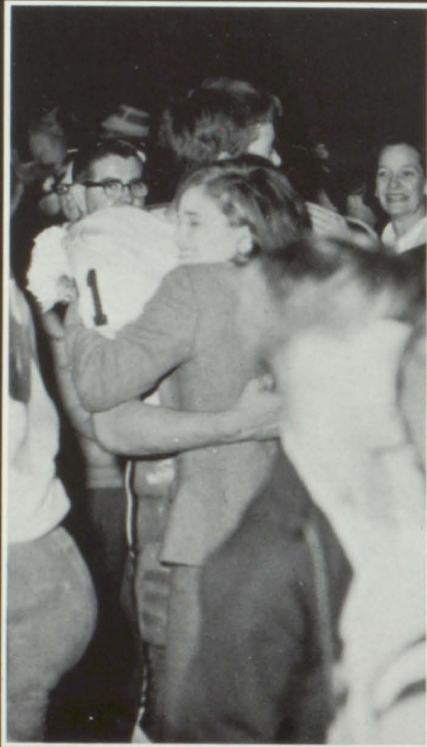

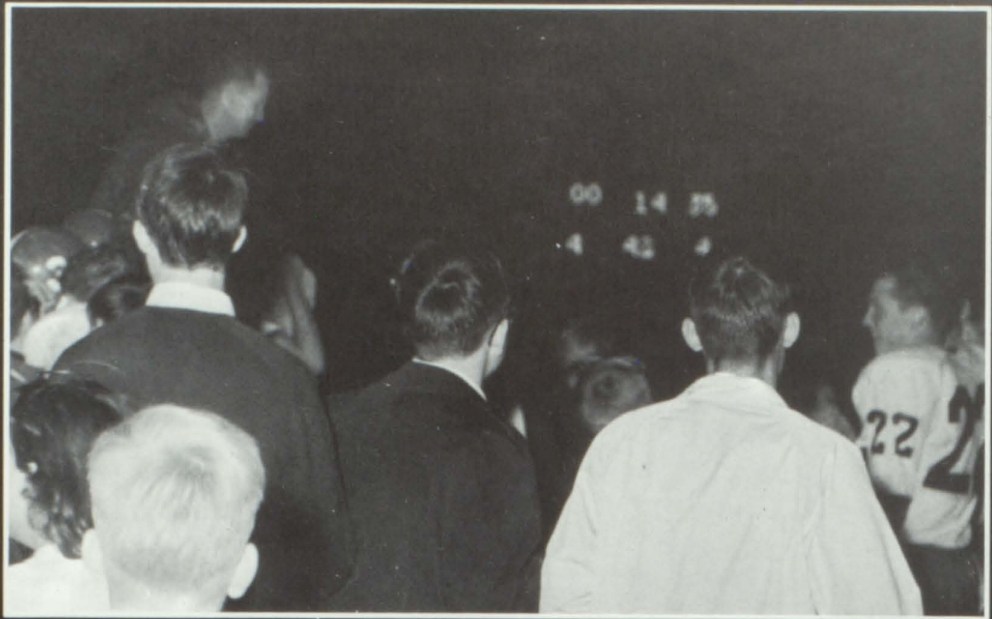

but there is a quiet appreciation of those established by others.

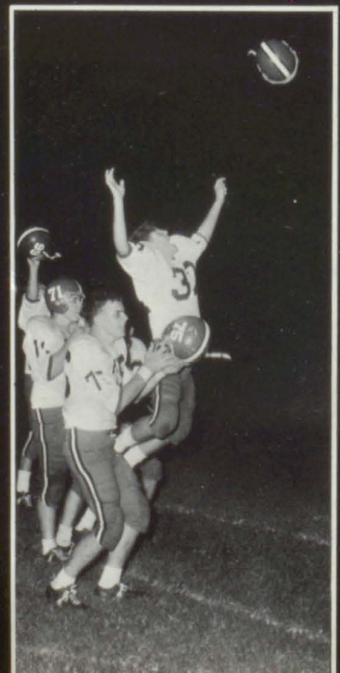

Nature's loveliness etches its soft designs into our hearts and man makes his markings in profusion.

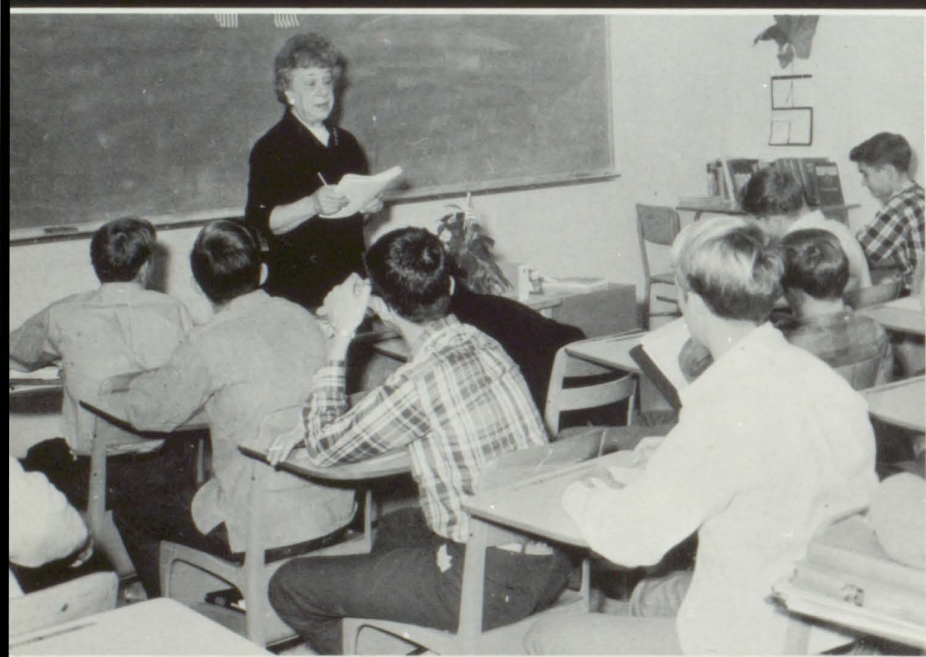

The intoxicating smell of Victory drifts through the night air and the elation of winning leaves heads spinning for countless days . . .

but the shadow of Defeat is always looming near and the pain, when it strikes, is never quite forgotten.

Whether the events are common occurrences or special, once-in-a-lifetime occasions, each moment of the school year creates lasting impressions on every individual.

and the grandest times of all come on evenings when the earth is wet—to sit around a sparkling fire and reminisce over all the securely harbored memories and to be young and very much in love with life.

All patterns we follow in our daily routine become engraved in our minds

but there are some which will remain especially outstanding.

Senior year—the long journey to graduation is almost over; the time for the final effort has arrived. Hard work and a lot of push are the keynotes of the year but there is also time for relaxation and some offhanded spoofing occasionally. Generally frantic but satisfying, '67 has been outstanding in the patterns in the lives of our seniors.

Graduation, college, service, careers—previously obscure prospects but now realities. The seniors pause to reflect on their achievements and to understand their failures, realizing the responsibilities that will soon be theirs to shoulder. Momentarily they are lost in poignant memories of their most unforgettable year, but soon each grasps the importance of the day upon him and is acutely aware of the present and the future. The bell rings and ends the school year but begins a new life—the senior gets his bearings and ventures forward to follow and create his own patterns in life.

Leading students expertly down the paths of education, the teachers of Mark Smith and Lasseter constitute quality faculties which rival any in the state. As they follow their own patterns and methods of instruction, the students observe; frequently, facets of their personalities become altered by the influence of the educator. There is a healthy state of cooperative education in our two high schools and the atmosphere for learning is certainly wholesome as a result of the expert staff of men and women who teach them.

It's a long, hard struggle, and sometimes we wonder if we will ever reach our goal. Pausing midway to glance up the top is often obscured by dark clouds of doubt and frustration, but by watching long enough the clouds will part and the glory of achievement will break through urging us upward.

Laughing and participating, almost confident but still somewhat reluctant, always longing for the next year's title SENIOR, the juniors become involved in all school activities. They strive for recognition and hopefully await for the chance to prove their reliability. Living each day to the fullest, the juniors begin making plans for their final year as upperclassmen.

Another year older and wiser, the freshmen are more sure of themselves as they enter their second year at Mark Smith and Lasseter. At games, pep rallies, and in all phases of school life, the freshmen begin to show true enthusiasm by merely being themselves. Their potential unleashed, they now begin to advance and make worthwhile steps towards a complete high school education.

The pensive, unsure sub-freshmen sit and wait—hoping somewhere to find security in the complex world they have entered. As the year advances the shyness fades away and is replaced with bubbling excitement over the new experiences of high school life. 1967 ends and the sub-freshmen, enriched by the past year's achievements, stand ready to face the challenges of coming years.

Honors

Dedicated to the students of Lasseter and Mark Smith who have reached great heights of distinction and merit, we seek to recognize in some small way their accomplishments. How do they attain their honors? Partly through genius and aptitude but also through sacrifice and a love of achievement. Regardless of the source of motivation, the rewards are theirs. There is really little need to praise them for success alone is enough.

Best Citizens

TERRI BECKER

PAUL ROWLAND

Leadership and responsibility are but two of the qualities of a Best Citizen. The Seniors and Faculty of Lasseter and Mark Smith made excellent decisions in naming Terrie Becker and Paul Rowland as the first BEST CITIZENS.

National 4-H Award

Because of his active participation in conservation projects in his home and community, the National 4-H Clubs Congress has awarded to TOMMY BOREN the National Championship in Conservation and Natural Resources.

English Achievement Award

The National Council of Teachers of English annually sponsors a contest to recognize superior achievement in English among high school students. Participants must submit several written papers and literary tests. Lasseter is proud to have VALERIA MURPHEY chosen as one of ten Georgia winners.

An unpretentious, easy-going athlete, abounding in spirit and energy, as well as a genuine love of people.

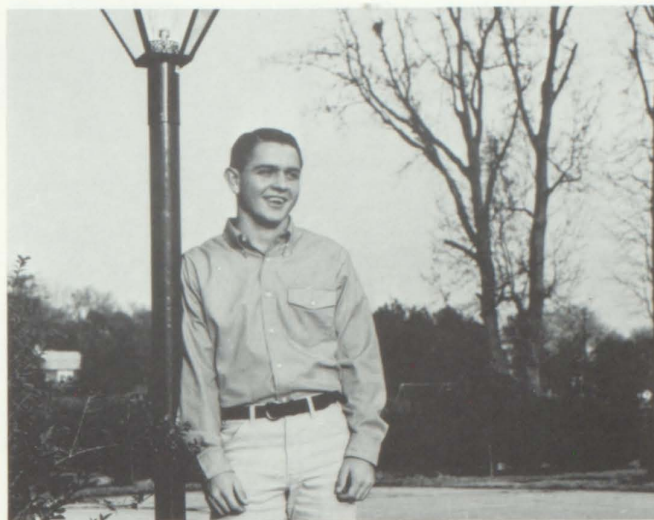

Teresa Adams

Donnie Wayne Churchwell

Indeed a creative and imaginative young man, a leader in school and in life. His is the kind of mind and spirit that serves as an inspiration to all who know him.

One of that special breed of boys, who does his best in every endeavor and then strives to accomplish just a little bit more.

Thomas Edwards

Terrie Becker

A quick smile, cheerful personality, and a rare combination of leadership, responsibility, and talent. A true friend to everyone.

An individualist, capable of accomplishing much in his varied interests. His easy going manner and sound judgment will make him remembered as an attribute to his school.

Billy Griffin

Pam Kelly

A fun-loving blend of cheerfulness and dependability, always enthusiastic in all she undertakes.

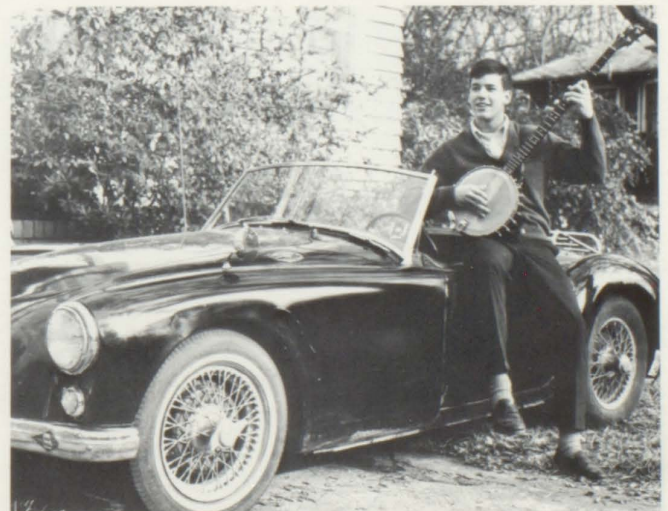

One of the intelligentsia, destined to success, cloaked in an aura of sparkling humor well mixed with vitality and social grace.

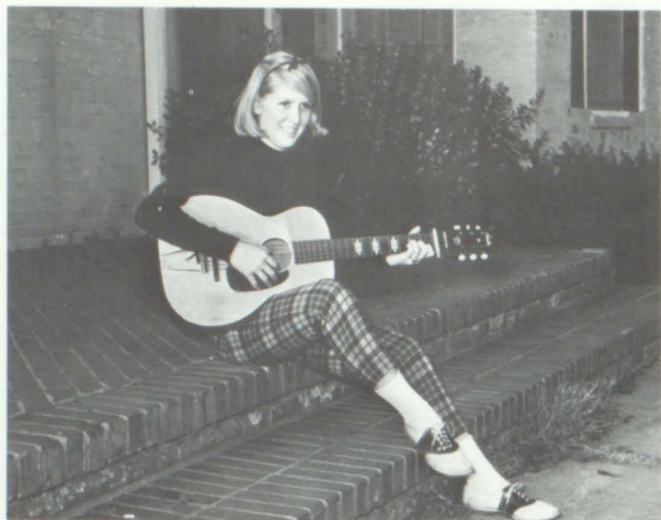

Valeria Murphey

John David Mullins

Whether for his prowess in the field of sports or for his dexterity with a pen, John David will long be remembered as a man of many talents.

Known by all for her dry wit and her unique sense of humor. The epitome of integrity and independence.

Candra Phillips

Tom Richardson

A friendly smile and outgoing personality make him welcome wherever he goes. With his quick wit and carefree attitude as a key, no door in life will be locked to him.

A rugged, unmatched sense of humor, blended with a thoughtful expression and quietness that radiates an aura of determination that will serve him well.

Chip Ridley

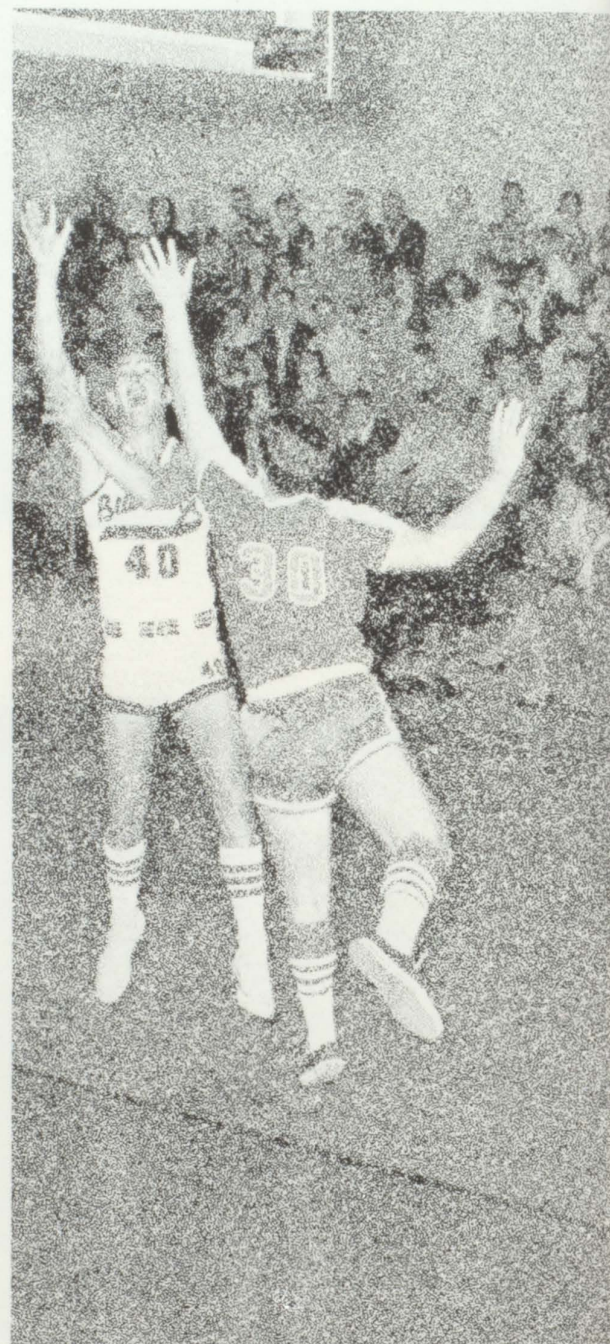

Susan Stevens

Bouncing energetically through life, enriching the lives of all she touches with her dynamic personality and twinkling grin.

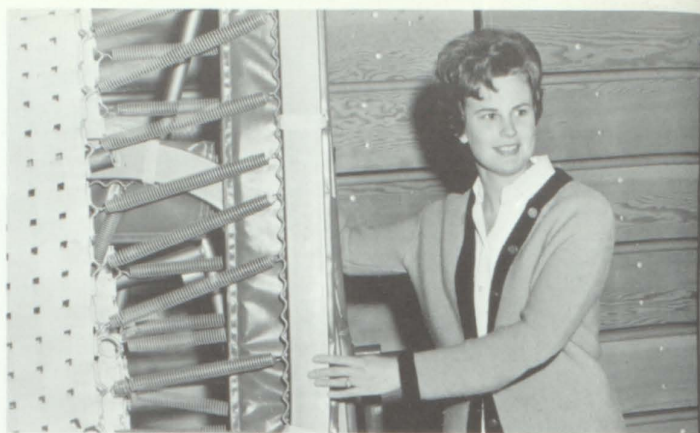

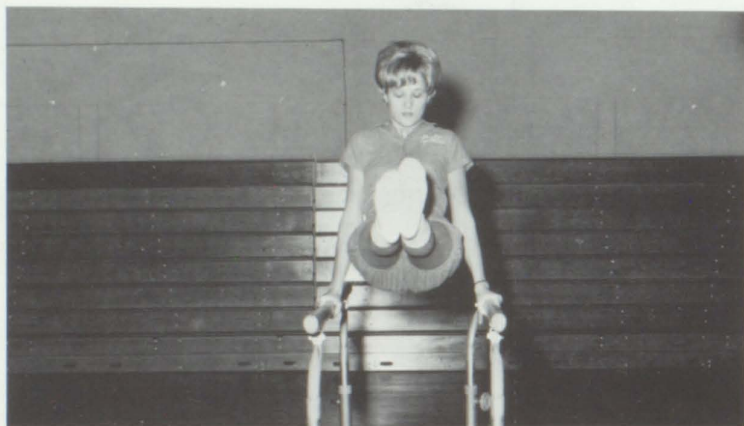

Touchdown, field goal, home run—cheers, excitement, a few tears, and lots of spirit and enthusiasm. Our sports seasons have been highly successful and Georgians everywhere took note of the dynamic Mark Smith players in their first year of Region I-AAA ball. Track, tennis, golf, or whatever the sport, " 'Dogs are Dynamite'" and the past year certainly proved it. Even after this school year ends, and the excitement of competition has melted away, the records set and the games won will become permanent reminders of the skill and ability of our Bulldogs and the wonderful year they had during 1966-67.

Healthy bodies are built under capable supervision

Often we see them as simply teachers, having no individuality. But their personalities are different as the skills they teach us. Miss Linda Jones—dry-witted, energetic . . . Miss Jane Howard—quietly intellectual . . . Mrs. Beth Brooks—bubbly, like quicksilver, always moving.

Miss Linda Jones—10th, 11th, 12th grades

Miss Jane Howard—8th grade

Mrs. Beth Brooks—9th grade

To build ourselves physically, as well as mentally, to learn basic skills that will perhaps one day develop into greater, professional skills—these are the arms of our Athletic Department at Lasseter.

Intramural basketball activities stimulate students

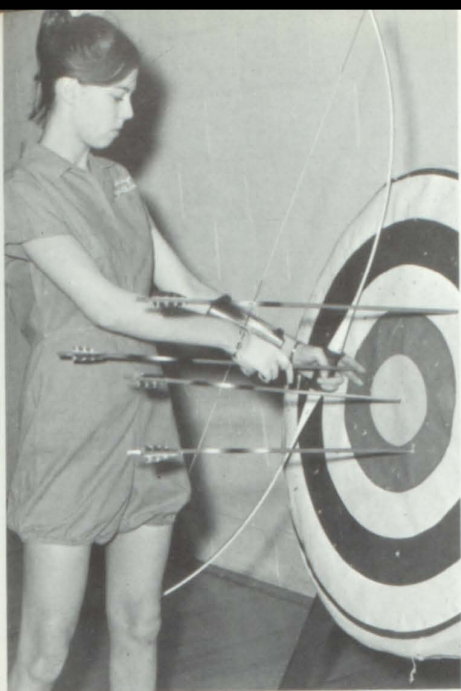

All of the exciting and fast moving games of basketball are not found on the professional or collegiate courts. Those of you who feel dubious about this matter should observe some of the Lasseter games in action.

Putting to work . . .

what we have learned

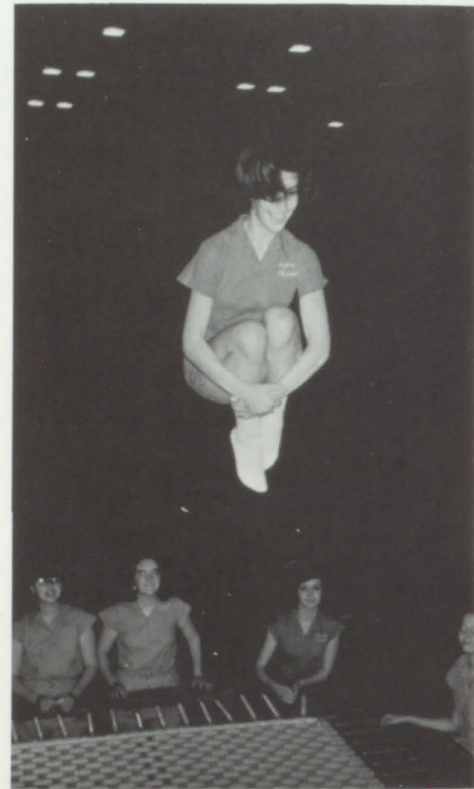

Physical education is more than fun and games or a means to fill an empty period. It is a vital aspect of our quest to become a well-rounded person. There are disappointing moments as well as the satisfying times when we've done our best and won.

Girls' Gym sports a wide variation of events

Wild enthusiasm, loud cheers and lively music fills us with anticipation of an even more exciting moment . . . victory.

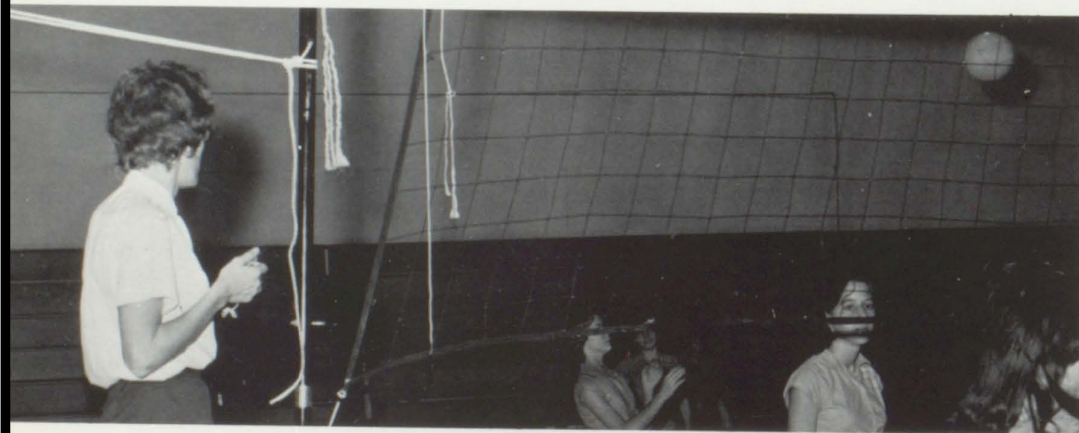

There is an opportunity to develop our abilities in athletics as well as academic fields.

Volleyball proves to be prominent at Lasseter

The daily routines cease to be boring when exciting games such as volleyball enter into the picture. Playday highlights the girls' sports season and proves to be enjoyable for all.

The source of our enthusiasm

B-team Squad: Vickie Dent, Cathy Stephens, Marcia Kaney, Judy Bedingfield, Rhonda Koplin, Lynn Booker

Enthusiasm personified ... the cheerleaders are tireless in their pep and vivacity. Their spirit is displayed through scores of signs and banners, and their ceaseless energy is evident at every game. The catalyst between team and spectators, our cheerleaders represent the nicest of necessities at Mark Smith and Laseter.

This was to be the year—Mark Smith's first season in Region I-AAA football. The "experts" gave the BULL-DOGS slim hopes in this, the state's toughest region. But through a most dedicated effort by the coaches and especially the players, we compiled a record that required no apologies. Just ask the Albany Indians, the Columbus Blue Devils, or the Lanier Poets, and they will tell you that the DOGS, in truth, were DYNAMITE!!

The season opened with a loss to Jordon of Columbus. Local writers, who had advised the tiny "Pups" not to show up against the much bigger and more experienced Red Jackets, were almost forced to eat their words when Jordon had to come up with two touchdowns in the final three minutes of play to snatch the victory away from Mark Smith.

Thomas Edwards

A powerful offensive attack was sparked by the brilliant running of senior fullback Thomas Edwards and blocking by junior tailback Bob McDavid. Edward's stamina amazed the crowds as time after time he exploded into the opponent's line gaining valuable yardage with each carry. The outstanding fullback's efforts were well rewarded as he won the title of second leading rusher in Region I-AAA. Edwards alone was not enough however, but the tremendous efforts of McDavid and the other offensive players helped Mark Smith attain its marvelous football record this past season.

Everyone will agree that the climax of the season came on October 28. This was the day of the long awaited, much publicized contest between the Bulldogs and their bitterest rivals—the Lanier Poets. In the weeks and, finally, the last days preceeding the game, tension mounted to an almost unbearable level. The bonfire the night before the game concentrated the spirit even more. During the pep rally, when the Poet was hung in effigy, there was no doubt that the Bulldogs would be victorious on this night. When the final gun sounded, the scoreboard told the tale: It read Mark Smith 35, Lanier 14.

Because of their undefeated season in local competition, the Mark Smith football team was presented with the "City Champs" trophy by the Macon Touchdown Club. This was especially appropriate because this is the first year the trophy has been in existence and it is also the first year that the Bulldogs were eligible to receive the award. A Bulldog tradition has been born.

OUR FINEST HOUR

The moisture in the air began to swell,
With a tingling sensation that soon would tell,
Of the emotions and feelings brought to a peak,
By the making of signs and the dummies that week.
The bonfire and pep rally was surely the spark,
That encouraged the young Bulldogs, to make their fierce bark.

The Poets,—considered both mighty and strong,— Hadh't thought of things going wrong.
But this was the case, as many have seen,
For the embarrassing downfall of the Orange and Green.
There's one thing I'd like for you to know,
Before you judge me friend or foe,
My lines may rhyme and I not know it
So spare me please; I'm not a Poet!!

The second game of the season held a lot at stake for the Bulldogs. Not only was this our first home game, ever, in AAA football, but our opponent was cross-town rival, Willingham. The Rams, a perennial power were heavily favored to win over the Bulldogs, but as the local fans looked on, the game ended in a 14-14 deadlock.

The anticipation of a win or the grim foreshadowing of defeat; random thoughts of the game skip nervously across each player's mind. The coach's words give encouragement and confidence but out on the field it's every man on his own.

The tough "Mad Dog" defense, led by Randall Browning's eleven individual tackles, combined with Michael Harrelson's inspiring 65 yard touchdown run, proved to be enough to hand Albany its only defeat of the year and vanquished their chances of the state crown. The outcome was never certain until, in the final minute of play, a missed field goal by the Indians clinched the victory.

Football Banquet

As the long hours of practice became only memories, the last game was played, and the cheers died from the stands, the Football Banquet alone remained to complete the season. There is more to basketball than the thirteen varsity players. It is up to Coach Clifton, Coach Snipes, and Coach Weston to take these young athletes of the eighth, ninth, and tenth grades and develop them into material skillful enough to play on Coach Brown's squad. Coach Clifton's B-team boasted a 15-4 record as his well-drilled team showed great potential in the preliminary games. Coach Snipes' ninth grade team was certainly a credit to the school as well as Coach Weston's young eighth graders.

In compiling an 8-2 record, the Mark Smith wrestling team showed outstanding ability.

Mark Smith further proved its mat prowess in the region tournament when Woodrow Sorrow, Julius Mullis, Bill Taylor, Johnny Lowe, and Michael Harrelson placed in their respective weight divisions and earned the right to compete in the state tournament held in Atlanta. Competing against the best wrestlers in Georgia, Julius Mullis captured fourth place in the 191 pound division for the Bulldog wrestling team.

Track

Mark Smith's track team promises to be one of the best in the region in 1967. Last year they laid claim to some of the fastest sprinters and middle distance runners in the state, and this year they will all be returning.

ORGANIZATIONS

Organizations serve as an aid to both the school and the individual student. Through our clubs we have been able to accomplish much in the improvement of our schools and in giving the student body a feeling of unity. Students are able to work with friends to achieve a common goal which is to make each club the best in its contributions to the school.
